

COURSE OUTCOME

Sl. No.	Course Code	Course	Outcomes
1	PM. I	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.
2	PM. I	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts which were derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
3	PM. I	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	PM. I	Buddhist Philosophy	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
5	PM. I	Nyingma Philosophy	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	PM. I	Buddhist History	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.
1	PM. II	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.
2	PM. II	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts are derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
3	PM. II	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	PM. II	Buddhist Philosophy	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, compassion, and understands selflessness of the phenomena, deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts, and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as precious life, impermanence, law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment.

Principal In-charge
SGIHNS, Sheda
Pangthang, Taktse
Education Department

	PM. II	Nyingma Philosophy	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	PM. II	Buddhist History	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.
1	UM. I	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.
2	UM. I	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts are derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
3	UM. I	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	UM. I	Buddhist Philosophy	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
5	UM. I	Nyingma Philosophy	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	UM. I	Buddhist History/Astrology	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.  Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.

Principal In-charge
SGIHNS, Sheda
Pangthang, Taktse
Education Department

	PM. II	Nyingma Philosophy	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	PM. II	Buddhist History	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.
1	UM. I	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.
2	UM. I	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts are derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
3	UM. I	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	UM. I	Buddhist Philosophy	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
5	UM. I	Nyingma Philosophy	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	UM. I	Buddhist History/Astrology	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.  Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.

Principal In-charge
SGIHNS, Sheda
Pangthang, Taktse
Education Department

	UM. II	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.
2	UM. II	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts are derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
3	UM. II	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	UM. II	Buddhist Philosophy	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
5	UM. II	Nyingma Philosophy	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	UM. II	Buddhist History/ Astrology	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.  Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.

1	SHA. I	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.
2	SHA. I	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts are derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
		English/	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	SHA. I	Buddhist	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love,

Principal In-charge
SGIHNS, Sheda
Pangthang, Taktse
Education Department

		Philosophy	and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
5	SHA. I	Nyingma Philosophy I st Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	SHA. I	Nyingma Philosophy II nd Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
7	SHA. I	Buddhist History/Astrology I st Paper	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.  Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.
8	SHA. I	Buddhist History/Astrology II nd Paper	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.  Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.
9	SHA. I	Environmental Studies	To provide basic understanding of environment and its important components and their role in environmental sustainability.
1	SHA. II	Tibetan Language	Upon completing the Tibetan/Bhutia Language and Literature course, students will demonstrate proficiency in reading and writing Tibetan script, analyze and interpret key literary and Buddhist texts, and engage with major themes in Tibetan literature. They will also develop an understanding of Tibetan culture and its significance in preserving heritage, conduct research using various methodologies, and communicate effectively in both written and spoken Tibetan/Bhutia, fostering discussions on literature and cultural topics.

Principal In-charge
SGIHNS, Sheda
Pangthang, Taktse
Education Department

	SHA. II	Sanskrit	Students will gain a foundational understanding of the teachings of the Buddha through their primary source, Sanskrit, while exploring the roots of Tibetan literature. We plan to engage in restoration work on Sanskrit, such as mantras, and dharanis in religious texts are derived from this language. Therefore, learning Sanskrit is essential for deepening our comprehension of these teachings.
3	SHA. II	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
4	SHA. II	Buddhist Philosophy	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
5	SHA. II	Nyingma Philosophy I st Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
6	SHA. II	Nyingma Philosophy II nd Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
7	SHA. II	Buddhist History/Astrology I st Paper	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history. Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.
8	SHA. II	Buddhist History/Astrology II nd Paper	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras, and fostered principles of peace and non-violence, contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history. Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.

Principal In-charge
SGHNS, Sheda
Pangthang, Taktse
Education Department

	SHA. III	Buddhist Philosophy I st Paper	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
2	SHA. III	Buddhist Philosophy II nd Paper	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
3	SHA. III	Nyingma Philosophy I st Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
4	SHA. III	Nyingma Philosophy II nd Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
5	SHA. III	Buddhist History/ Astrology	Students will explore the influence of Buddhism on Indian culture and society, including its spread across Asia including Sikkim. They will examine how Buddhism challenged the caste system, promoted equality for women and Shudras , and fostered principles of peace and non-violence , contributing to trade and commerce. Additionally, students will study the historical development of Buddhism, tracing its origins, key figures, and major movements throughout history.  Students will explore Buddhist astrology to gain insights into self-understanding, health, and fortune, as well as to better comprehend the world around them. This course will not only provide theoretical knowledge but will also emphasize practical implementation in daily life, addressing significant events such as birth, death, rituals, marriage, and health according to Buddhist traditions. Students will learn how to use Buddhist astrology as a practical tool for guiding major life decisions and promoting healing of the body and mind on gross, subtle, and very subtle levels.
6	SHA. III	English	To develop proficiency in reading writing of English language and communication skills.
1	ACH. I	Buddhist Philosophy I st Paper	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
2	ACH. I	Buddhist Philosophy II nd Paper	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.

Principal In-charge
SGIHNS, Sheda

			by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
3	ACH. I	Nyingma Philosophy I st Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
4	ACH. I	Nyingma Philosophy II nd Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
1	ACH. II	Buddhist Philosophy I st Paper	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
2	ACH. II	Buddhist Philosophy II nd Paper	Students will explore the meaning and purpose of life, cultivate peace, love, and compassion, and understand the selflessness of phenomena. They will deepen their understanding of core spiritual principles found in the texts and analyze key concepts in Buddhist philosophy, such as the preciousness of life, impermanence, the law of nature, suffering, and enlightenment. Additionally, students will engage in preserving the Indian Nalanda tradition by learning its teachings and methodologies, ensuring the continuation of this important legacy.
3	ACH. II	Nyingma Philosophy I st Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.
4	ACH. II	Nyingma Philosophy II nd Paper	Upon completing the Nyingmapa course, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of the foundational teachings and philosophical principles of the Nyingmapa tradition. They will analyze its historical development, engaging with key figures and texts, and interpret essential writings by masters like Padmasambhava, Longchenpa, Mipham and so forth. Students will also participate in specific meditation and ritual practices, cultivating a direct experience of the teachings, and learn to integrate Nyingmapa principles into their daily lives to foster compassion, wisdom, and spiritual growth.

Principal In-charge
 SGIHNS, Sheda
 Pangthang, Taktse
 Education Department